Now, apply your bank's tuition reimbursement for added savings. For example, with a tuition reimbursement of $5,000 annually you have the choice of which is more important to you: Cost or speed to completion.

- Low Cost Option: You could take 3 courses (15 credits per year) at $5,814 and pay $814 out of pocket annually. At this part-time pace, you would complete your degree in 3 years.

Total estimated cost: $2,442 out of pocket or 94% savings!

- Fast Completion Option: You could take a full time load of 2+ courses (10 credits during 3 quarters and 15 credits 1 quarter) or the equivalent of 45 credits and complete in 12 months. For the benefit of maximizing your tuition reimbursement let's say you split your final 45 credits into two separate tuition reimbursement years. (20 discounted credits 1st year = $7,752 - $5,000 TR = $2,752 out of pocket in year one; 25 discounted credits 2nd year = $9,690 - $5,000 TR = $4,690 out of pocket in year two.

Total estimate of $7,442 out of pocket for this option or 82% savings!
